In Memoriam

DR. JAMES E. SHEPARD

Founder and First President of North Carolina College at Durham, whose kindness and devotion to ideals endeared him to many friends throughout the Nation.

Dedication

Miss Ruth G. Rush

With great affection, we are pleased to dedicate this book to Miss Ruth G. Rush who for thirty-three years served our Alma Mater so faithfully as instructor and Dean of Women.

The Maroon and Gray Staff of 1948-49

The moving finger writes; and having writ, moves on; nor all your piety nor wit shall lure it back to cancel half a line, nor shall your tears wash out a word of it.

This book is so like you, and we like it,
For harmless Mirth, expressions, art and wit,
That I protest, ingenuously it's true,
I love this Mirth, Art, Wit, the Book and you.

Executive Committee

Executive Committee of the Senior Class mapping out plans for the 1948-49 school year.

History of the Senior Class

The Class of 1949 came to this institution in the fall of 1945 with a great deal of expectation. This was the beginning of a period that was to mark important changes in our ways of thinking and acting not only because we as a class were embarking upon a course of higher education, but also because the members of our class came from a number of states and had varied ideas and experiences.

After becoming orientated into college life as freshmen, we elected our officers. Ransom Gadsden was our president, Irma Thorpe, secretary, and Mildred Lewis, chairman of the social committee. We might state at this point that Miss Thorpe was our secretary in the freshman and sophomore years, and is at present serving as assistant secretary of our class. Miss Lewis was chairman of our social committee for the freshman and junior years.

During our freshman year we sponsored a program for the student body, participated in the Red Cross Drive, and closed the year out with our Freshman Class Dance.

During our sophomore year, Miss Emma Thompson served as president. She did a wonderful job. On February 14, the Sophomore Class Dance was held. Thus ended our second year at this institution.

When we returned for our junior year, we were aware of the many tasks which were to be ours as members of the junior class. Such things as assisting the incoming freshmen and helping them to become orientated, and the sponsoring of the annual Junior-Senior Prom were jobs which we accepted willingly and at which we worked wholeheartedly. Under the expert guidance of our president, Mr. Samuel O'Neal, we aided the freshmen, sponsored a Sunday School program, sponsored a float in the homecoming parade and gave the Junior-Senior Prom. The Prom, a black and white ball, was truly a memorable one. It is an occasion such as this that we will remember long after we have left this institution to go our separate ways.

Then came September, 1948, the beginning of our last year here as undergraduates. Mr. O'Neal was again elected as president; Freddie Weaver, vice-president; Katie Avery, secretary; and William Thomas, treasurer. Miss Avery also served as secretary of our junior class.

As seniors, we have become more and more aware of the fact that ours has been a long and tedious job. We realize how hard the struggle has been, how narrow the path and how long the journey. Sometimes the going got pretty rough, but we always comforted ourselves with the thought that against all storms we must keep our hearts high because it is better that way. Our adviser, Professor Charles L. Holmes, has served us well throughout our four years.

Some of us will continue our education and others of us will secure jobs. However different our future positions may be, we have at present one thing in common—our upholding of those things which we know to be right and our denunciation of those things which we know to be wrong. With this knowledge, we are a united class. Although we may have failed in some respects, we feel that throughout the years we have put our best feet forward for we always knew that no matter how tiring the burden and no matter how loudly we ever cried, ignorance could never successfully demand the respect, opportunity, recognition and privileges which intelligence would eventually demand.

And now as our senior year draws to a close, we are reminded of our motto, "Strive not to equal, but to excel." We look forward to the future with hopeful and prayerful hearts. We trust that every member of our class will realize his highest ambition. With the help of the Almighty, we cannot fail.

The thirsty drink in silence.

The Alma Mater

"Dear Old N. C. C."

Words by Annie Day Shepard
Music by Harry T. Burleigh

The sloping hills, the verdant green,
The lovely blossoms beautious sheen,
Surround our college proud and gay,
Where wave our colors Maroon and Gray,
What matters it how far we roam,
Our thoughts will oft return to home,
And hearts will e'er be true to thee,
Our Alma Mater N. C. C.

We've gathered here to fit our lives,
As from the darkness, light revives,
So let us hail both night and day,
Our glorious colors Maroon and Gray,
We'll ever love and honor thee,
For thou hast taught us loyalty,
Then let our watchword service be,
To Alma Mater N. C. C.

You send us forth, with hearts of love,
So like a blessing from above,
And from the path we'll never stray
Our dear Alma Mater Maroon and Gray,
We'll work and fight, we'll win our way,
When duty calls we shall obey,
And may we e'er return to thee
Our Alma Mater N. C. C.

CHORUS:

Then Rah; Rah; Rah; For our colors so gay:
Dear Old N. C. C.'s Maroon and Gray.
Thy Sons and Daughters will honor Thee
Dear Old N. C. C.

Reason to rule and merry to forgive;
The first is law, the last perogative.
Dryden

Class Prophecy

Katie Avery—As secretary to the President of the United States and doing a very efficient job.

Nathaniel Bond—As executive secretary of the N. A. A. C. P. and considering the acceptance of the nomination for candidacy for the presidency of the United States on the Progressive Party Ticket.

Esma Burgess—Doing extensive research into the Historical motives and significance of her mates at N. C. C. from 1944-1949.

Mary Claytor—Yes, you guessed it. Still keeping check on Jimmie.

Warren Coleman—Will he ever change?

Jerry Coward—Still loud and wrong.

John Ray DeVane—Doing further study in psychosomatics.

Oliver C. Finley—Sitting behind his ivory desk, and in his usual efficient manner, carrying on the affairs of "Finley, Inc."

Ransom Gadsden—Well, he's still living.

Robert D. Glass—Portraying the pinnacle of perfection in his management of affairs as the Senator from Alabama.

Theodore Green—As chief executive of one of the largest corporations in the world.

Samuel Hicks—Finding a cure for a common cold.

James B. James, Jr.—Revolutionizing and admonishing the world with his theories of government.

Charles "The Cat" Harrison—Looking admiringly on his lovely daughter and Janice.

Richard Matthews—Doing advance research in nuclear fission.

Mildred Lewis—Still taking her time to select a mate.

Mildred Harris—Still refusing to believe that she will make a lovely wife.

Senneta Hayes—Dean of Women at North Carolina College holding weekly conferences with the freshmen girls in order that they may be able to accept responsibilities when they become seniors.

Jeanne Barksdale—Still happy as a lark.

Hermenia Fitts—Still improving that million dollar smile and insists on saying, "you are very nice, but. . . ."

Portress Wall—Accepting all the credit for converting the "Killer."

Etla Dowdy—President of the World's largest export Dressmaking Corporation located in Puerto Rico with branch offices in New York and Goldsboro.

Harry E. Thomas—Having the patient sit in the chair for dental work while he goes out to get something to kill the nerve.

Samuel O'Neal—Sitting up late at nights trying to figure out a way to help big business violate the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

Edwin D. Scipio—Getting rich showing enterprises how to evade income tax.

Be a man's vocation what it may, his rule should be to do his duties perfectly, and thus make perpetual progress in his art.

Duty comes to us as something hard, and we shrink from it. No one is a large man if he does not feel his duty is larger than himself.
Dr. Alexander McKensie

History of the Junior Class

The freshman class of 1946 had one of the traditionally large classes on this campus. We showed an exceptional amount of iniative and spirit—exhibiting most of our ability in athletics, expecially in intramural events. Dr. Howard Wright, Professor of Psychology, was our adviser. Since we were not only freshmen in the sense that this was our first year at North Carolina College but also freshmen to each other, we changed class presidents every quarter. Harry (Trees) Taylor, was president for the first quarter; Herbert Love, second quarter; and Herbert Love was re-elected for the third quarter.

During our freshman year, we learned that studying—the thing we had taken so lightly in high school—was to sadly interfere with our leisure and enjoyment periods.

When we returned for our sophomore year, it was evident that a majority of us had really accomplished something. However, a number of our students did not return for the sophomore year. Our officers were Randolph Johnson, vice-president; Ollie Bowser, secretary; Clementine Coley, assistant secretary; and Either Mae Bryant, treasurer. Because our president-elect went home during the first quarter, Randolph Johnson became president. Our school term ended with the Sophomore Class dance.

Upon returning to school this year, our junior year, we found that our class had grown even smaller. However, we had a number of new students who were transfers from other institutions. Our officers are the same as those which we had in our sophomore year with one addition—Robert Freeman is vice-president. We are now making plans for the Junior-Senior Prom of which we are the hosts.

It is almost impossible to believe that almost three years of study have passed since we entered this institution. All the things we have learned are now a part of us. As we go on our way we will continue to be led on, as before, with the thought that upward lies our goal and we must climb and climb if we are to reach that goal.

Had the Faith of the Heart been sufficient,
God would not have given you mouth.
Thomas Aquinas

History of the Sophomore Class

We enrolled in North Carolina College in September, 1947. Under the supervision of the Class of '49, which at that time was the Junior Class, we elected Robert McKnight as our president; David Martin, vice-president; Doris DeLaine, secretary; Marion Jacobs, assistant secretary; Curtis Lynch, treasurer; and Clarence Mutts, business manager. During our freshman year we sponsored a float in the homecoming day parade. George McKinney was elected later in the year to serve on the Chapel Planning Committee. The freshman year ended with our class dance.

We returned to school in the fall of 1948 with our newly elected officers taking charge. They are Ruben Weston, president; Robert McKnight, vice-president; Doris DeLaine, secretary; Louise Cutchin, financial secretary; George A. Moore, treasurer; George McKinney, business manager; Clarence Mutts, assistant business manager; Jack Porchee, sergeant-at-arms; William Brown'ee and Calvin Hughes, representatives to the Student Council; and Ada Hannar, reporter.

Because our adviser, Dr. Howard Wright, accepted a position at another school, we had to select a new adviser. After expending considerable thought on the matter, we chose Dr. Helen G. Edmonds, instructor in the Department of History. Dr. Edmonds has really done herself proud as our adviser, and it was under her supervision that we gave a program in B. N. Duke Auditorium on February 19, 1949. The purpose of this program was to present various students of the sophomore class to the other members of the student body.

With two more years ahead of us, we resolve to do all we can to make our class one of the greatest classes of this institution.

What man believes he will do; and if he has no Faith to guide his practice and impel him to action, he will only drift, and no man ever drifted into a good useful life.

In all our lives, though time is given us to eat, drink, sleep, work and play, there is no moment given us to throw away.
Anna Robertson Brown

History of the Freshman Class

We enrolled in North Carolina College with a record-breaking class of approximately four-hundred pupils, who came from homes as far North as Massachusetts and as far South as Florida.

Although we soon became familiar with life on this campus, we must admit that at first our classification was quite obvious as it was not unusual to hear an upperclassman remark, "You must be a freshman."

Our first program and test for co-operation was the Freshman Talent Night. On that night we proved both to the upperclassmen as well as to the other members of our class that we possessed quality as well as quantity.

It is almost impossible not to mention the sincere hospitality that was shown to us by the other classes, faculty, etc. They gave dances for us and sponsored sings and other means of entertainment which really instilled in us a sense of college spirit and loyalty to this great institution. Our counselor, Mr. R. D. Russell, has shown sincere interest in us. Without him our class as a whole would not have progressed academically or socially as much as it has thus far.

Our officers are James Wright, president; Miss Dorothy Brooks, vice-president; Miss Gloria Grant, secretary; Miss Isabel Gates, treasurer; James Stroy, Student Council Representative. Under the leadership of our officers, we sponsored a jeep float in the Homecoming Parade on which were four steps. These steps represented four years of college life, showing that we are looking upward. Now that we are well established here at North Carolina College, we are conscious of the strong ties of love and friendship that hold us all together, and we resolve to always be loyal to our school and to ourselves by performing all our tasks as best we can in the remaining years of our college life.

Four things come not back— the spoken word, the sped arrow, the past life, the neglected opportunity.
Hazlitt

1923 The Orange Printshop 1949

In the 26 years that the Orange Printshop has been in business it has made many faithful friends, who have chosen to bring all their printing needs to us, because they have found that every job is handled with neat, attractive workmanship and prompt, courteous service.

We take pride not only in the quality of our printing but in the privilege and responsibility of belonging to a profession without which there would be no accurate record of the past, no wide exchange of ideas, and no progress.

Every printing job is important to us, and whether yours is small or large it will be printed with care in every detail to make it "just what you want." Our greatest satisfaction is in satisfying you.
